It’s almost football time in Texas, and as always, a good offense and defense will be important. The same thing holds true in protecting your home from wildfires. If flammable vegetation surrounds your home, go on the offense and do a few simple things to defend your home from the threat of an approaching wildfire. Yes, just like football, a good defense is very important. For more information concerning fire-wise homes, contact the Texas Forest Service office in your county.