Trees Are Important

Robert Roth, Galveston Resident: Everybody in Galveston is having similar problems with the number of Oak trees that we’ve lost.

Cathy Conlon-Townsend, Galveston Island Tree Conservancy: There’s still not enough places when we take the trees down for birds to make their nests so we have to get trees up.

Robert Roth: I think everybody on this block is definitely devastated about it.

Cathy Conlon-Townsend: The shade factor is immensely important. The people on the East end where we’re going to see the biggest loss of residential trees are going to see a significant increase in their electrical bill. So trees are extremely important.
